The good will of the Hallowe'en fairies is being sought on all sides, and a world of parties have been and are to be given in their honor. Now is the time of year for the inquisitive future husband; but this being Leap Year, it would be more apropos to have the youth work charms to determine the identity of her who has designs upon him. And just a word of advice to sororities—Hallowe'en goblins in times past have held a passion for collecting porch swings, chairs, cushions and in fact anything movable, to carry away as souvenirs of the time when they once were mortals; so beware and nail down or lock up.
